

REGULATION AND COMPLIANCE

Stifel to fight $14.3M award over broker's structured note recommendations

By Dan Shaw October 07, 2024, 4:15 p.m. EDT 4 Min Read

Stifel is planning to ask a court to vacate a "windfall" FINRA arbitration award that took the rare step of

Dan Shaw
Reporter, Financial Planning

For reprint and licensing requests for this article, click here.

REGULATION AND COMPLIANCE CORPORATE GOVERNANCE LITIGATION INVESTMENTS
STIFEL FINANCIAL

MORE FROM FINANCIAL PLANNING

PRACTICE AND CLIENT MANAGEMENT

Don't want a full family office? Goldman says try it à la carte

The financial services giant lets wealthy clients pick and choose things like assistance with cybersecurity, alternative investments and estate planning.

By Dan Shaw

November 20

RETIREMENT

Ask an advisor: How can I Trump-proof my finances?

Not every investor is expecting a Trump boom. Some expect a crash. How should they adjust their finances – if at all?

By Nathan Place

November 20

RETIREMENT

401(k) fees are lower but still hard to understand. Planners can help

A government watchdog reports that Labor Department regulations haven't made much of an impact on the levels of disclosure and comprehension.

By Tobias Salinger

November 20

TECHNOLOGY

LPL's AI Advisor Solutions includes four popular vendors

LPL's financial professionals now have access to a vetted package of AI-powered tools for their practices.

By Rob Burgess

November 20

RIA LEADERS 2024

The top fee-only RIAs ranked by AUM in 2024

The group of 20 massive companies including Moneta, Chevy Chase, Evoke and Savant manage a combined $343.9 billion in assets under management.

By Tobias Salinger

November 20

RIA LEADERS 2024

RIA Leaders 2024: Download FP's list of the 150 largest fee-only RIAs

The printable PDF includes rankings based on the firms' AUM and includes number of employees, client accounts and financial advisors.

By Tobias Salinger

November 20